Birthday of the Yang di-Pertuan Agong in Malaysia Date in the current year: June 6, 2015

Birthday of the Yang di-Pertuan Agong in Malaysia On the first Saturday in June, Malaysians celebrate the birthday of the Yang di-Pertuan Agong (king of Malaysia). The king's birthday is an official public holiday in Malaysia.

The Yang di-Pertuan Agong is the elected monarch of Malaysia. Malaysia is one of the few constitutional monarchies in the world where head of state is elected. The king is formally elected to a five-year term by and from nine hereditary royal rulers of the Malay states. The title of Yang di-Pertuan Agong was adopted in 1957. The first Yang di-Pertuan Agong was Tuanku Abdil Rahman who served from 1957 until his death in office in 1960.

The date of the birthday of the Yang di-Pertuan Agong is a ceremonial date. The holiday always falls on the first Saturday in June, its date does not change depending on the actual birthday of the current head of state. It is similar to Sovereign's birthday in the United Kingdom in this regard

(which is not surprising as Malaysia had previously been a British colony). There are two types of public holidays in Malaysia, those at national and state levels. National holidays are normally observed by most governmental and private organisations. State holidays are normally observed by certain states in Malaysia or when it is relevant to the state itself.

In addition, government agencies are closed every Saturday and Sunday in most of Malaysia, while in Kedah, Kelantan, Johor and Terengganu they are closed every Friday and Saturday.

King's birthday in Malaysia is a non-working holiday, which is marked with numerous festive events and ceremonies throughout the country. Traditionally, the most spectacular celebration is held in Kuala Lumpur, the federal capital of Malaysia. It includes a military parade and a performance by a military band.

Malaysian king's birthday Quotes 2015

"A genuine leader is not a searcher for consensus but a molder of consensus."

"The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy."

"Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter."

"Whatever your life's work is, do it well. A man should do his job so well that the living, the dead, and the unborn could do it no better."

"If you can't fly, then run, if you can't run, then walk, if you can't walk, then crawl. But whatever you do, you have to keep moving forward."
